

Broadband radiation that disrupts communications for other services as this proposal does, is not worthy of even a moment's consideration. They can purchase a small piece of spectrum and use it as efficiently as possible like everyone else.